

Adaptation Options and Pathways

Did you know... Governments are not legally obligated to protect public or private assets from coastal erosion?

Some Governments let natural processes take their course and focus on providing other community services

Avoid

New and additional development can be avoided in hazard areas to avoid future problems. Lowers risk of future problems and maximises flexibility of options into the future

Retreat/Relocate

Assets or Infrastructure at risk can be relocated from hazard areas to avoid future problems

Protect

Assets or Infrastructure can be protected from coastal erosion by engineering structures such as seawalls or groynes
