

Preserving Coastal Values and Amenity

The City wants your input to help decide how we should respond to coastal erosion

Should we relocate assets and let natural processes take their course?

Should we protect important public areas and infrastructure?

What if protection leads to loss of foreshore and beach amenity, and impacts nearby beaches?

How will the management of what we do now impact what we do in the future?

How do we fund management solutions?

Should the public pay for the protection of private property?

What if protection leads to loss of environmental habitat for nearshore and marine wildlife?

What will the benefits and costs of implementing particular management actions?

If funding has to come from savings elsewhere, where should this come from?
